

DEMOCRATS APPOINTED
COMMITTEE AT CAUCUS

FIVE MEMBERS OF MAJORITY PARTY NAMED TO ACT ON PRESIDENTIAL AP-POINTMENTS.

TO FORMULATE A PLAN

Nominations in Army, Navy and Diplomatic Service Will Be Considered, But Objections Directed at Other Service.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Dec. 12.—Democratic members at a caucus today authorized a plan of action with reference to the presidential appointments pending. In the meantime nominations in the army, navy and the diplomatic service will receive consideration just as they would if no political question were involved. The objection of the democrats is directed especially at nominations in other branches of the government service.

Drafting Message.
President Taft remained today in his study in the White House to begin the dictation of the first draft of his message proposing the adoption of a budget system which he expects to send to congress before he leaves for Panama next week.

Banquet Plans Complete.
Arrangements are complete for the Republican dinner in President
Taft's honor at the Waldorf-Astoria, January 4. The affair will be under the auspices of the republican club of New York, the Union League club of New York, the Republican club of Massachusetts and the Union League of Philadelphia.

Two hundred prominent republicans have been invited to act as an honorary committee at the dinner.
President Taft it was learned today,
has under consideration the question of supporting Daniel J. Keefe, of Detroit, as commissioner general of immigration by the appointment of F. H.
Larned, the assistant commissioner general.

Rural Credits' System.
Former governor Herrick of Ohio, now ambassador to France, testified today before the Glass sub-committee of the house on banking and currency in favor of the establishment of a system of rural credits for the aid of the farmers, along the lines of the system in continental Europe.

"Do you believe it expedient or desirable to complicate the proposed currency bill by passing on a provision of rural credits?" asked Chairman Glass.
"I do not," replied Mr. Herrick.

Probe Alleged Money Trust.

The differences between the New York stock exchange and the consolidated stock exchange, and the effect of the stock exchange bar against consolidated brokers were aired today by the house money trust investigating committee. Half a dozen members of the consolidated exchange were examined by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee. They explained that under the rules of the New York stock exchange they were absolutely precluded from doing business with members of that organization and charged that their business had been curtailed by the prohibition.

The house today by a vote of 147 to 125 refused to dismiss the election contest against Representative Charles C. Bowman, of the eleventh Pennsylvania district and declare his election in 1910 legal. This action was preliminary to a vote on the Ansberry resolution to deprive him of his seat.

The house was also damaged and the fire department was called out.
Mrs. Broecker has been a resident of

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 12.—"Wait a minute. Town burning." This was the message flashed to the western union here by the operator at Brown
City, Mich., just before noon today.
Communication then ceased and the telegraph company has been unable to obtain further information as to what is happening at Brown City. A little while before this the Saginaw, Mich., office reported that a request had been received there for fire fighting apparatus to be hurried to Brown City. It was stated that a serious conflagration was raging. No details were given.
Brown is a town on the Pere Marquette railroad in Sinaloa county and has a population of about 1,000.

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Dec. 12.—Walter M.
Chandler, who was elected to Congress from the Nineteenth district, on the Progressive ticket last month, appeared in court today as defendant in a suit for an accounting in the estate of the late Philip V. Myers, a linen importer of this city. The suit was filed by the widow of Mr. Myers. In an affidavit filed with the court Mrs.
Myers makes sensational charges against the Congressman-elect. Among other things, she alleges that Mr.
Chandler induced her to employ him as a lawyer by threats to "expose her past life," and that in settling the estate of her husband he defrauded her out of $20,000.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Associates and other friends of Dr.
Theodore Gill, the noted zoologist of the Smithsonian Institution and former Librarian of Congress, have arranged to give a banquet in his honor tomorrow night at the Cosmos Club.
The affair will be in celebration of Dr.
Gill's seventy-fifth birthday. The actual anniversary occurred last March, but it was decided to defer the banquet until it could be given on Friday, the thirtieth day of the month. As further evidence of their contempt for unlucky days and numbers the guests at the banquet will number exactly 113.

ROOSEVELT AFFIRMS STAND
TAKEN BY WISCONSIN MAN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Dec. 12.—"In an interview with me yesterday Theodore Roosevelt told me that I was absolutely right in my stand about the court," said Dr. Charles McCarthy today upon his return from the progressive party conference at Chicago. "He said the people's law must be considered over any other law; that this was the big issue of the future. An issue that will not be downed, what is right must be constitutional." Dr. McCarthy said that should it be offered him he will not accept the post of head of the legislative bureau of the progressive party as long as it remains a private institution.

STATE MAY PROVIDE
SICKNESS INSURANCE

Another Measure Proposed in Which Wisconsin Adopts Attitude Of Paternalism Toward Workingman.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12.—Sickness insurance for workmen and women to be administered by the state industrial commission, and to be correlated with the administration of the workmen's compensation act, is one of the plans to be worked out for presentation as a bill in the next Wisconsin legislature. This scheme is not new.
It has been tried in Germany for a number of years and was recently put into effect in England. The plan as contemplated for Wisconsin does not have the full scope of the English statute, that law providing for unemployment insurance also.

The plan will provide that every workman shall contribute a small part of his wages towards the insurance fund, and that the employer shall do likewise. In England the state contributes a share. In Wisconsin this would not be possible without constitutional amendment.

In its broad features the bill will contain provision that the sickness insurance shall not lapse in case of unemployment. It is possible in the event of the enactment of this law, that a man who is under the terms of the workmen's compensation law and has been injured in an accident will be barred from drawing both compensation and sickness insurance. The industrial commission, it is proposed,
will be given broad powers of administration and will decide the amount to be paid as claims are filed.

Store.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Dec. 12.—A $25,000
diamond robbery in a Fifth avenue jewelry shop was discovered today when Joseph Varga, head of the Varga Jewelry company, opened his store for business. The establishment was entered during the night through a hole sawed into the ceiling after the wall of the building adjoining had been pierced. The thieves smashed four large show cases and took their entire contents.
Then with a rope they made their exit through the ceiling.

RAILROAD MEN HURT

Heavily Loaded B. & O. Freight Train Dashes Down Mountain Side Near Glencoe, Pa.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 12.—A freight train comprising two heavy loaded engines and forty eight cars with coal on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad dashed down a mountain side near Glencoe, Pa., early today and was wrecked on a sharp curve where one of the locomotives left the rail. Four trainmen are known to have been injured, perhaps fatally and four other trainmen are missing. The body of an unidentified man, probably a tramp, was taken from the wreckage a few hours after the accident.

TO PREVENT RIOTS

Strike at Railway Coal Yards in New York City Promises to Become Serious

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Dec. 12.—Two hundred men armed with rifles and aided by a search light remained on guard all night at the coal yards of the Susquehanna and Western Railway, a subsidiary of the Erie near Shadyside, N. J., opposite 100th street.

Strikers in a clash with whom last night two guards were killed and a dozen wounded, still hung about the place today, but aside from a hand to hand conflict between two small groups in which no one was seriously injured there was no disorder.
Every precaution was being taken this morning to prevent further rioting and it was said that a request for the Jersey state militia would be made if the situation did not improve today. The strikers, mostly Italians demanding higher wages, and have been seeking to prevent strike breakers from taking their place. About two hundred men are out.

NEW DOMINICAN OUTBREAK
PUZZLING TO DIPLOMATS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Dec. 12.—The new revolutionary outbreak in the Dozain republic is both puzzling and vexing serve peace for two years when a new election was to be held.

KNEW OF NO MONEY
TO BUY EXPLOSIVES
OR PAY DYNAMITERS

John H. Barry, Iron Workers' Vice President, Testifies He Knew Nothing of $10,000 Dynamite Fund.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—Whether he knew that $10,000 of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' funds was expended for dynamite and nitro-glycerin and to pay salaries of dynamiters, was asked by the government in its cross examination of John H. Barry, of St. Louis at the dynamite conspiracy trial today.

On Dynamite Purchases.
As a vice-president of the union and a member of the executive board Barry testified he audited the accounts of J. J. McNamara, the secretary. He asserted he never traced final use of money paid to McNamara. Frank C.
Webb, New York and Herbert S. Hockin, which the government charges was used for dynamite.

"Do you know that while you were auditing the union accounts $10,000 was expended for dynamite, nitro-glycerin and for hiring dynamiters?" asked district attorney Miller. "I never heard of it," said Barry.
Barry said he visited Steubenville, Ohio, three weeks before an explosion there in June 1909 and when he was asked whether he had investigated the cause of that explosion, Chester Crumb his counsel objected.

Made No Investigation.
"He may answer that question," ruled Judge A. B. Anderson. "That Steubenville explosion was similar to many others. It was on a non-union job and happened during the strike which still continues. As this defendant was there before the explosion the jury should know whether he was interested to know the cause."

Barry answered he made no investigation.
Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo., former business agent of a local union entered a denial of the charges of having plotted the destruction of a bridge across the Missouri river.

leged embezzlement of $173,000 from

He gave a detailed explanation of where he obtained the money he used in business ventures subsequent the sub-treasury. He said all the money he invested represented his life savings and money he borrowed from friends.

Convicted.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 12.—Sheriff
Bates of Lake county came to Bay City last night to investigate the story told by Frank Hale of Fremont, Ohio, who said yesterday that he believed he saw the shooting of Harry Fisher of Chicago, September 19, near Baldwin, Michigan, for which Oscar M. Auerbach, Fisher's employee, was arrested, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Hale was closely interrogated, and clung to the story in all essentials, after which he made an affidavit covering the matter. Sheriff Bates later said that Hale was not even acquainted with the facts in the Fisher-Auerbach case.

DEATH OF OLDEST
EUROPEAN PRINCE

death of oldest...
Prince Luipold, Prince of Bavaria, Prince Luipold, Prince Regent of Bavaria, Passed Away Today, Aged 91 Years.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Munich, Bavaria, Dec. 12.—Luipold, prince regent of Bavaria, died here today. He was 91 years old.
The prince regent had been failing in health for several months, but his death was unexpected.

Prince Luipold was the oldest ruling prince in Europe in point of years, having been born March 12, 1821. He was nine years older than the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria who was born on August 18, 1830. The latter, however, has already occupied the throne for 64 years, as he became ruler at the age of 18 while Prince Luipold had been regent since June 19, 1886.

The immediate cause of Prince Luipold's death was bronchial cardiac, which was aggravated by the feebleness of old age.

Orders General Mourning.
Berlin, Germany, Dec. 12.—On account of the death of Prince Regent Luipold of Bavaria, Emperor William has ordered general mourning for three weeks and the imperial parliament has been adjourned over Christmas for the same reason.

INSURANCE BROKER
IS VIOLATING LAW

Commissioner Ekern Issues Warning Against Operations of a New York Firm.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12.—A warning against the operations of a so-called insurance broker in New York has been issued by fire insurance agents in Wisconsin by Insurance Commissioner Ekern. The broker offers to place insurance "at whatever rate you figure will be acceptable to the insured," and allowing the local agent 25 per cent commission. Transactions of this kind are called a violation of the law, subjecting agents to punishment and in addition making them liable for the full amount of any losses sustained, and probably liable for the repayment
of the premium in an action for fraud.
The broker sending out the circulars exploiting these offers cannot be licensed in New York.

In a recent case in Wisconsin, an agent placing business of this kind became liable for a loan of $2,000 and the outside company turned out to be worthless. In July, 1911, eleven so-called mutuals were raided and closed by the Pennsylvania insurance department, and it was disclosed that the broker received 75 per cent commission on the business written by them and that in the case of one company about 98 per cent of the business was written through these brokers.

hotel practically unobserved, accompanied by Gov. Robert T. Bass of New Hampshire and Medill McCormick. The party motored to the railway station, entering by a rear door, and passed into the main waiting room and upstairs to the train shed.
Not more than half a dozen persons recognized the former president.
There was no demonstration. "Good bye, boys, I've had a grand time," was the colonel's parting remark. Plans for the committee of seven members which will study social conditions in northern Europe in the interest of the progressive party are developing rapidly.

RECOMMEND CHARGES
AGAINST KOETTERS

Coroner's Jury Recommends Apprehension of Fugitive For Alleged Murder of Mrs. Emma Kraft.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Dec. 12.—At the conclusion of the coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Emma Kraft, 60 years old widow from Cincinnati who was found fatally wounded with a hammer in a town hotel, Nov. 14, the jury returned a verdict recommending that John B. Koettler, the fugitive, be apprehended and held to the grand jury on a charge of having murdered the woman.

Several deeds and mortgages on property in Cincinnati owned by Mrs.
Emma Kraft together with letters which the police declare gives the first tangible evidence connecting Koettler relations with the woman were put in the possession of police this afternoon, when the two valises found unclaimed in a Chicago railway station were opened by detectives. The valises are believed by the police to have been taken to the railway station and checked by Koettler when he fled from this city after making his attack on the woman in the down town hotel.

ENDS OF RAILROAD RIDGE RAISED TO PROPER LEVEL

Middle Portion Will Be Elevated and Entire Bridge Will Be Shifted Up-stream.

The ends of the railroad bridge on both the St. Paul and Northwestern sides have been raised to the proper level, and when the intermediate portions have been elevated, the trestle-work and entire bridge will be moved eighteen inches up-stream. Seven piles have been driven into the ground at both ends of the bridge to prevent shifting after it has been moved. Trains passing over the bridge have been ordered to proceed not faster than four miles an hour, and after Monday all trains will pass across the bridge on the St. Paul side, and will proceed by block between the ends of the bridge, the same as between two terminal stations.

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS IN MANAGING "LODGERS."

Member of Board of Control Believes That They Should Be Compelled To Clean Own Quarters

That men given lodging in the cell rooms at the police station should be compelled to clean the quarters occupied by them as the price of their accommodation was the suggestion made to Mayor James A. Fathens, by Miss Williams, the member of the State Board of Control, who was in the city Tuesday. She also thought it advisable for the city to feed those locked in the station for the night so they would not be compelled to beg or steal for a breakfast when dismissed. If the men are compelled to do janitor service she was sure they would make it a point not to return again.

Miss Williams criticised the toilet facilities in the cell room as being unsanitary and recommended immediate remedying of conditions there.

My commission expires July 12, 1914.

THE LAW.

The one and only point at issue, in the recall movement, which is just now absorbing public attention, is the law, and its observance, and the significant fact about it is, that the complaint comes from men who regard the enforcement of law as a hardship.
The law is not a respecter of persons and knows nothing about favoritism, in any line of business. The merchant is compelled by law to give honest weights and measures, and if he becomes a violator, has no cause for complaint when punished, and does not expect public sympathy.

The saloon enters into a contract with the city, secures a license, and conducts business along certain lines which the law prescribes. So long as these laws are respected, there is no cause for complaint, but when they are disregarded, the saloon becomes a violation, and is treated the same as the merchant, or any other offender.

There is not only nothing unfair about this proposition, but it is absolutely fair and just, to all concerned.
It not only protects the people, but it protects the honest dealer from unlawful competition.

The average man, in any kind of business, obeys the law, not because he fears it, but because he respects
it. One of the prominent saloons in Janesville has posted behind the bar the law respecting minors, and when a boy comes in and calls for a drink he is referred to the law and the penalties attached. That's respect for law, and it would be better for the saloon business if every man engaged in it would adopt it.

The issue in the present crusade is not prohibition. The people are not now demanding a dry town. They are simply asking that law be enforced and respected. The request is not unreasonable, and the men who are opposing it are making a great mistake, as they will discover if it comes to an expression of public sentiment.

Suppose the present commission is defeated, for no reason except a determination to enforce the law. What would be the result? Not only a wide open town, but the most lawless city in the state. Not a pleasant thing to contemplate, but that is exactly what it means. The people are not ready to invite such a fate, and it will not occur.

SUPERINTENDENT CARY.

The fight being made on State School Superintendent Cary is due to the fact that he has gained the ill-will of the state university, as well as of the state administration, by taking the part of the people against extravagance and waste of money. He is the one and only state official who has possessed the hardihood to call a spade a spade, and because of this fact he is opposed for re-election.

Superintendent Cary is a friend of the public schools. He believes in practical education, and his work has largely been devoted to advancing the interests of the common schools. The people honor him for the stand he has taken and a large majority of the educators of the state endorse his methods and are in sympathy with
him.
He has made a good official, and there is every reason why he should continue to serve the people. The office which he holds is supposed to be free from politics, and it would be but for the influence and interference of the state university which, by the way, is more than a cog in the ball-bearing political machine which is now running the state.

The last legislature was so completely under the domination of the state school that it voluntarily added $1,200,000 to the budget presented, and became a party to the land deal which created so much comment. The next legislature was selected and elected to do the same kind of work and all sorts of wild and woolly legislation may be expected. It is well for the people to have at least one friend at court, and Cary should be retained.

THE COAL SITUATION.

"There was a slight decline in the shipments of anthracite in November as compared with that month in 1911 and as compared with October. The loss in tonnage is to be attributed to the closing of collieries by the miners for trivial reasons connected nearly always with the labor union propaganda, and by reason of car scarcity.
The lack of cars is a matter of course when all producers have more orders for coal than can be filled, but in some cases it has been more marked in November than is usual at that time in the anthracite regions. One of the large shipping companies with what might be expected to be close relations with a great railway company, had six collieries idle one day last week because of the short supply of cars.
The miners have refused to work and have materially restricted tonnage because men would not join the union or would not wear union buttons. The operators have done what they could to keep the collieries going."

This news item is of interest, just now, because it shows conditions which exist in the anthracite coal district. The shortage of the coal supply is about six million tons, due to strikes which occurred in the early part of the season. This shortage is not likely to be made good, and more or less scarcity and an advance in price are the natural results.

The mass meeting at Eagles' hall last night, in the interests of the recall movement, developed nothing new except a disposition to play a waiting game. The committee of ten, appointed to name candidates for election, are finding some difficulty in securing timber, as the truth has gradually dawned upon the minds of ambitious aspirants that there is no issue at stake, worthy of the name. This is an age of publicity and some of the men who signed the petition have already seen a vision. As time advances more of them may discover that the observance of law is necessary to public welfare, and not so much of a hardship as painted.

Joseph Ector, one of the men tried for murder in connection with the Salem strike, is expected at Pittsburgh to aid in organizing a strike among the steel workers, who claim that it is a good time to strike because of the scarcity of labor, and the great demand for men. It is to be regretted that some of our foreign labor agitators could not be induced to go back home, for the good of the country.

The common towel must go the way of the common drinking cup, according to a recent order of the Interstate Sanitary Commission. The public is to be protected from the public microbe, with which the old fashioned towel is supposed to be infested.

The state savings banks of Chicago have on deposit $221,000,000—a good evidence of prosperity, as well as of thrift, on the part of an army of small depositors.

It requires 150 years to grow a 30-

"What is your husband's occupa-

"Oh, he is just an aviator. That's cord three times."

there is going to be a lot of money

A statesman is a politician who gets into the cabinet.

There is only one thing more uninteresting than a cold pancake and that is a love letter written on a

This world is full of wise guys who can't make good.

It is getting so the drug stores keep everything excepting automobiles.

Some fellows are so fond of travel that they get jobs as street car conductors.

There is only one automobile in the world and that is owned by the fellow you happen to be talking to.

A fellow who spends his money for

kind of a fellow who hires a $7 man

he doesn't get results.

Everything goes in vaudeville and

The Pendulum of Time.

I remember back in eighties when Hank Frisby went to school.
Everybody in the village had him doped out for a fool.

For he was so god dam homely, all the critics in the place said there wasn't no intelligence or larnin' in his face.

He was tall, rawboned and knock-kneed and as awkward as a cow.
And the girls they always passed him
by and never smiled at him.

He was bashful and was awkward and he seemed to have no vim.
And the fellows round the schoolhouse always poked their fun at him.

Nuthin' much was said about it when he left our town one day.
Hardly anybody knowed the fact that he had gone away.

Once in a while they'd mention Hank and wonder where he went.
But nobody ever found out, for they didn't care a cent.

Nigh a dozen years passed by and then one day a thing occurred, and it caused more lively gossip than
the town had ever heard.

Great big auto came a-tearin' down
the main street with a yank.
And the feller in the back seat givin'
orders—he was Hank.

Hank had been out west and struck a vein of ore, both wide and deep.

And he picked up half a million
while our town folks were asleep.
When he jumped out of his auto full of vigor and of vim.

You could have seen the town folks
all a-toddlin' to him.
He put up a splendid mansion and he wed the village belle.

And he has his dinner evenin's—or at least that's what they tell.
He's mayor now, and owns a mill, a

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

"OLIVER TWIST" in Picture Form
Nat. C. Goodwin as Fagin to be Seen Here

Nat. C. Goodwin, the American comedian, has handed down to posterity through the medium of moving pictures his unique conception of Fagin in "Oliver Twist."

Mr. Goodwin and an all star cast have been playing the characters of late in a revival of the dramatized novel in honor of the recent Dickens' Centenary.

The entire pathetic story of Oliver is given from the time of his life in the workhouse, the horrors of Fagin's den, the happenings in the home of Mr. Brownlowe, murder of Nancy, Bill Sykes hanged from his own rope and finally the horrible death of Fagin himself. The novel's atmosphere of brutality and crime is excellently portrayed and the spectator of the play on the screen finds himself involuntarily shuddering, so vivid are the scenes.

For the average person, the motion picture production gives a better conception of Dickens' fiction than would the mere reading of a volume of "Oliver Twist." Mr.
Goodwin's portrayal of Fagin is capable and graphic, afforded a characteristic portrait of the unique old pa-riste. The part of Oliver is played delightfully by Vivian Barus, who replaced Marie Doro in Mr. Goodwin's company at the New Amsterdam theatre in New York city.
Mr. Henry Martin, as Bill Sykes, gives an excellent interpretation of that difficult role and Miss Beatrice Moreland as his wife Nancy also gives an excellent performance. The minor parts are all in the hands of capable people. The scenery and costumes being noteworthy for their accuracy of detail. These interesting pictures of Mr. Goodwin and his company will be shown in this city at the Royal Theater tonight, tomorrow and Saturday evening.

High barometric pressure prevails over the interior of the continent today, accompanied by generally fair and cold weather. A storm in the North Atlantic has been attended by cloudiness, light snows, except at New York, where there was a heavy fall, and high winds in the Northeastern states. Another barometric depression is moving eastward through the Saskatchewan valley, and is attended by rain on the north Pacific coast and chinook winds in the northern Rockies.

HERE'S LATEST PICTURE OF "MILLION DOLLAR BABY" WHO HAS BIRTHDAY SOON

Vincent Welsh McLean.

This is the newest picture of Vincent Welsh McLean, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean and one of the richest babies in the world, who celebrates his third birthday on December 18. He will have an elaborate party and his baby guests will represent many future millionaires. His mother is the daughter of the late Thomas F. Walsh, the Chicago mining millionaire, and his father is the son of John R. McLean of Cincinnati and Washington. This picture was made a short time ago in his nursery while he was trying out one of his new toys.

STARTS LIFE AS UNDERGROUND TOILER; NOW MENTIONED FOR A CABINET PLACE

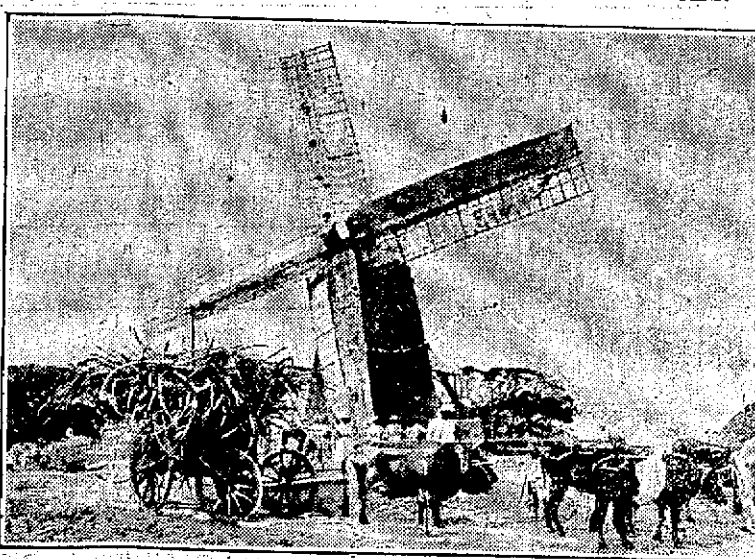

David J. Lewis.

Coming to Washington as an unknown less than two years ago, David J. Lewis of Maryland, who was a child labor victim and who toiled underground in the coal mines until he was of age, has made such a profound impression on public life in his single term in congress that he is being seriously considered for one of the highest and most important posts in the American government—that of postmaster general. Lewis is commonly regarded as the highest authority on parcels post in the house, if not the greatest who has ever sat in that chamber.

A GLIMPSE OF HOLLAND IN THE WEST INDIES.

One need not travel to Holland to enjoy the picturesque old windmills as they creak slowly around. In many parts of the West Indies windmills are used to convert the force of the wind into power. These quaint old mills in many cases are supported by solid masonry, which has stood unchanged for two centuries or more. The windmill shown in the accom-

The picture was snapped by a tourist on one of the winter cruises of the S. S. Moltke, of the Hamburg-American Line. The wings of the old mill, it will be seen, although of very ancient design, are in excellent condition, and the mill, despite its great age, continues to be fairly efficient. The islands of the West Indies abound in such pictures. By a fortunate chance the trade winds blow steadily for six months during the grinding season, thus bringing ample power.

Sensible Christmas Shopping

I must be sort of nice to be a queen at this time of year, said the matron, dropping wearily into a chair and letting her packages fall on the floor about her.

"Why?" asked her friend, giving her a cup of tea.

"So the shops could come to you, instead of your going to the shops. Imagine the luxury of having shopkeepers send you whatever you might fancy to see and then of sitting in a big easy chair and looking them over and selecting what you want, and if you changed your mind afterward about anything, sending it back without feeling apologetic or going to the exchange desk. There are some compensations for belonging to royalty."

"I don't know," demurred her friend. "There's a sort of exhilaration in the crowds and the greens and the Kris Kringles standing around and the delicious children. Even when the trolleys are crowded and I have to hang onto a strap, I enjoy seeing the pleased, excited look on people's faces."

"You don't if your corn hurts," said the other grimly.

"And think of the delight of finding a genuine bargain. Is there any joy to equal pouncing on the very thing you want at about half what you expected to pay? It's worth a kingdom to know that feeling."

"I guess you are about as likely to experience it this time of year, as I am to be queen," returned the tired shopper.

"And I don't think there would be much fun," went on the other, in choosing your gifts just from a lot of things spread round you, with people standing looking on and knowing exactly what you paid and wondering which one of the things you are choosing was for them, and maybe putting their mind on you to get some one certain thing they want."

"I wouldn't care," said the other, "as long as the State footed the bills."

"The trouble with you," said her friend, "is that you try to do too much at once. I expect you endeavored to get every single gift today."

The other looked slightly conscious.

"No wonder you are nearly dead. What you ought to do is to group together the things that can most easily be bought all at one time, shop for a certain number each day, come home before the rush and rest after you get home. Then you'll be fresh as a daisy Christmas morning."

The other lifted a protesting hand.

"Yes, you can do it," said her friend decidedly. "If you couldn't that would be another thing. But you can if you will, and will plan. You just let the thought of what you have to do goad you into overdoing. I'll send these packages home for you by one of the children. And stop wishing you were a queen and be a sensible American woman. It's lots more fun."

SWEETS FOR THE SWEET.

A GOOD deed is never lost. He who sows courtesy, reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness, gathers love.

—Richard Brooks.

There are no candies quite so delicious or wholesome as those which are made at home. The following, if carefully made, will be one which will be treasured and often used.

Peanut Candy.—Cook together, stirring constantly, a pound of light brown sugar and six ounces of butter for ten minutes from the time it begins to bubble. Stir in a pound of peanuts, which will make a cupful after shelling. Roll them on the bread board with the rolling pin until crushed like coarse crumbs. Pat out at once into a greased pan and mark off before it becomes too hard.

To make peppermint wafers, wintergreen, and in fact any flavor, melt and flavor a sufficient quantity of fondant over hot water and drop with a teaspoon on a buttered sheet. The recipe for fondant has been given many times.

Maple Fondant.—Break a pound and a quarter of maple sugar in pieces, add a pound and a quarter of granulated sugar, a cup of hot water and a fourth of a teaspoon of cream of tartar. Boil until a soft, waxy ball is made when a bit is dropped in cold water, then pour out on a buttered platter or a marble slab and work as soon as it is cool enough to handle. When well kneaded, put into a bowl, cover with waxed paper, and let stand a day or two before using. A bright, clear day will prove better for making fondant, as a damp, heavy atmosphere has an unfavorable effect on the process.

Coffee Fondant.—Cook together a fourth of a cup of ground coffee and a cup and a half of water, strain through a double cheese cloth, add two and a half pounds of sugar and a fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Boil and prepare as above. While the sugar is cooking it is wise to wash down the sides of the kettle to keep the grains of sugar from forming. These grains, if not dissolved and scraped into the candy when mixing, will grain the whole lump of fondant. Coloring matter and flavoring, with nuts and fruit, make a large number of different kinds of candies.

Maple Fondant.—Break a pound and a quarter of maple sugar in pieces, add a pound and a quarter of granulated sugar, a cup of hot water and a fourth of a teaspoon of cream of tartar. Boil until a soft, waxy ball is made when a bit is dropped in cold water, then pour out on a buttered platter or a marble slab and work as soon as it is cool enough to handle. When well kneaded, put into a bowl, cover with waxed paper, and let stand a day or two before using. A bright, clear day will prove better for making fondant, as a damp, heavy atmosphere has an unfavorable effect on the process.

Coffee Fondant.—Cook together a fourth of a cup of ground coffee and a cup and a half of water, strain through a double cheese cloth, add two and a half pounds of sugar and a fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Boil and prepare as above. While the sugar is cooking it is wise to wash down the sides of the kettle to keep the grains of sugar from forming. These grains, if not dissolved and scraped into the candy when mixing, will grain the whole lump of fondant. Coloring matter and flavoring, with nuts and fruit, make a large number of different kinds of candies.

The Evening Chit-Chat BY RUTH CAMERON

WAS THE LAST GENERATION BETTER?

ONE of the favorite themes of those backward philosophers who seem to take delight in thinking that the past was far better than the present, and that the world is steadily running down, is to compare the young women of today most unfavorably with their mothers. One of the indictments against the women of today is that so many of them prefer a professional or business life to marriage.

Still another is their eagerness for higher education and for interests outside the home.

Now as to whether all these things are really bad, or as to whether they are wholly the fault of those against whom they are charged, I am not going to argue. The point I want to bring out is this—why should the mothers be praised and the daughters disparaged when in nine cases out of ten the older generation actually approves of the attitude of the new?

For it does. And in many cases the mothers are even more strenuous about it than their own daughters. A young professional woman who has made a great success in her work recently announced her engagement to a young business man who is probably making less money than she. She is going to give up her work when they are married, which will probably be in a few months.

I happened to be sitting with a group of older women, that highly virtuous last generation who are supposed to represent the normal love of domesticity and the home, when they heard the news.

Were they delighted to hear that this woman was going to give up a professional career for the greater profession of home-making?

On the contrary, almost without exception they figuratively threw up their hands in horror.

"To think of her giving up that splendid salary!"

"And she had such fine prospects."

"I would certainly have expected more of her."

Such were the comments that this news brought forth.

Again in the matter of race suicide! Surely you have noticed in your own circle of acquaintances how often the prospective grandmother is disturbed instead of pleased when her daughter promises her another grandchild.

Theoretically the older generation believed in large families; actually it seems as if their own experience with the hardships and broken health that a baby every year or two meant, has made them far more keen on small families than their daughters. If the truth were known, I think we should find that again and again it is the mother of the young married woman who advises her most strongly against immediate motherhood.

Perhaps after all there isn't such a very wide gap between these two generations of women, as some folks would have us believe.

Perhaps after all they are both just human beings with human desires for happiness and a tendency to search for it in whatever happens to be the present path of least resistance.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A Gift Hunt.

I am a little girl nine years old, and my mamma has such a dandy way of giving me my birthday and Christmas presents that I want all the little girls mammas to know about it. I call it a birthday or Christmas hunt.

I find a slip of paper under my plate, and on that it tells where to look for present No. 1. When I get there I find my present and another slip that tells where to look for present No. 2. Mammy keeps this up until she has given me all my presents.

She hides them in all sorts of funny places, such as in the teapot, even under the couch, and even out of doors, if it is not too cold. I think it is lots of fun.

Salted Peanuts.

Take a pint of raw peanuts, shell them, pour plenty of hot boiling water on them, so as to skin easily. Remove skins, then put into flat baking or pie tin, spread them out and mix with one tablespoon olive oil. Then roast in oven until a light brown. When finished, put them on a piece of white paper and salt them well. Leave them on paper until oil is drained.

Almonds can be fixed the same way.

Homemade Hand Lotion.

This is an excellent hand lotion. Immediately after using it you can sew on finest goods without leaving marks, as it is absorbed quickly.

2 tablespoonfuls level quince seeds. 5 cents each; benzoin glycerin and rose water.

Put quince seed in pan and pour one pint of hot water on seeds; let soak over night. In morning strain seeds through cheesecloth, then put back in pan, add almost a pint of hot water, let sit on back of stove where it can be kept warm (but must not boil) for several hours. Strain again, put all together, then heat to blood heat, add glycerin and rose water, then add benzoin, a drop at a time, stirring constantly.

Bottle and it is ready for use.

This makes about a quart and will keep indefinitely if kept in cool place. Can use any perfume you wish, but is not necessary.

Have found this superior to a great many preparations on the market.

Facts About Ventilation.

It is just as important in ventilation to let the foul air out as to let the fresh air in. In fact, one is impossible without the other. Air, though you can neither set it nor grasp it, nor weigh it, is just as solid as granite when it comes to filling or emptying a room. Not a foot, nor an inch of it can be forced into a room anywhere, until a corresponding foot or inch is let out of it somewhere.

Therefore, never open a window at the bottom until you have opened it at the top. If you do, the cold, fresh air will pour in onto the floor, while the hot, foul air will rise and bank up against the ceiling in a layer that gets thicker and thicker and comes further and further down until you may be actually sitting with your head and shoulders in a layer of warm, foul air, and your body and feet in a pool of cold, pure air. Then you will wonder why your head is so hot and your feet so cold.

WISCONSIN BREEDERS ELECTED TO OFFICE IN REGISTRY CLUBS

Excellence of Badger State Flocks and Herds Wins Honors for Many Prominent Breeders.

Madison, Dec. 12.—Because of the excellence and fame of Wisconsin's studs, herds and flocks, Badger state breeders have frequently been chosen as officers and to act upon directorates of the various national livestock registry associations. At the annual meetings of several of the leading livestock associations of the country, held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago last week, Wisconsin stockmen were elevated to high positions in many of these bodies.
The Inman of Beloit was chosen secretary of the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' Association of America, which position up to a year ago was always held by Easterners. His brother, T. H. Inman, of Beloit, was chosen second vice president of the association, and H. W. Ayers of Honey Creek, Joseph Allyn of Delavan, and A. Lilly of La Crosse, Minn., were appointed members of the executive committee of this important organization. Messrs. Allyn and Inman, together with E. M. Barton of Hinsdale, Ill., will constitute a committee to have charge of the arrangements for an exhibition of the breed at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915.
Members of the Cotswold Registry association, re-elected Frank W. Harding of Waukesha as their secretary, a position he has held for several successive years. He was also re-elected president of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association, one of the largest of its kind in the country. Mr. Harding's Anoka herd, one of the best in America, has produced some of the most noted sires of the breed, including the Mitchell Surlan and Whitehall Marshall, repeated winners of grand championships at the leading fairs and exhibitions in the corn and grain belt states.
McKerrow as Director.
George McKerrow of Pewaukee, superintendent of the Wisconsin farmers' institutes and one of the country's foremost breeders of Oxford sheep, will serve upon the directorate of the Oxford Sheep Breeders' Association of America. Mr. McKerrow was instrumental in interesting this organization in the Wisconsin livestock exposition which will be held in Madison during the second week of February. It is expected this association will be represented at this mid-winter show, by suitable and typical specimens of the breed, and that an Oxford booth will be fully equipped and manned throughout the week of the farmers' course.
At the meeting of the Red Polled Cattle Breeders' Club of America, Harley A. Martin of Gotham, prominent as a breeder of dual-purpose cattle and a son of University Regent James A. Martin, was unanimously re-elected secretary of this organization. In recognition of their services to the breed, William J. Gillette of Rosendale, William, Everson of Lake Mills, and John G. Voss of Elkhorn were honored by the members of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America in being elected to high positions of the official staff of the organization. A Wisconsin man, Malcolm H. Gardner, of Delavan is the superintendent of the advanced registry for the Holstein breed, and in this position has done much to develop the milk and butter fat production capabilities of the black and white herds of America.

Guernsey Club President.
By electing Charles L. Hill, president of the American Guernsey Cattle Club, the Guernsey breeders of the country suitably recognized one of the men who have done much to develop this great Channel Island breed, and under his administration the club has done much progressive work with the result that that breed is being widely popularized throughout the country. J. F. Diley of Rush Lake, one of the leading stockmen and farmers of northwestern Wisconsin, has been re-elected director of one of the Poland China registry associations.

These elections to high office in the various livestock organizations of the country are believed to be a recognition by the breeders of the entire country of Wisconsin's leadership in the industry.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

TIME is a precious commodity which few people take seriously until they can see the end of it. Then they begin to back water with the aid of hair dyes, short skirts and complexion renovators.

No substitute for time has ever been invented, and as a result this world is full of eleven-hour confessions and death-bed repentances. When a man gets down to the place where he is a look over the brink of time and see what is coming, he won't haggle over making restitution and throwing in 8 per cent interest. Thousands of oddballs have been attached to wills drawn by tight-fisted relatives who would be glad to trade a bunch of accumulated sins and other city property for two weeks of time and a full breath.

Time is divided into three parts—past, present and future. Past time is something which youth tries to forget and age tries to recall. A person is said to have a checkered past when he can't think of it without waking up at night and perspiring in cold, clammy accents. Every one in the world of today whose past is fringed with liver spots is not able to sleep until he retunds the price of a stolen ring in a box car twenty years ago, after which he feels better and can get some enjoyment out of the season.
Present time is so cheap that too many of us use it as fuel, burning it up in gab, gadding and gossip. If the years wasted in auction bridge, light-headed fiction and talk which never gets anywhere could be tacked onto the end of life, some people would break old Methusalem's record in a walk.
Future time is something which most people refuse to think about until the family physician is called in. It consists of tomorrow and the day after, and is used to return borrowed books and repay loans with. It is a very handy article; as it does not interfere in the least with the enjoyment of people who keep their work so far ahead of them that they never catch up with it in this life.

DEMAND FOR LABOR SUFFERS A SLUMP

Wisconsin Employers Report no Difficulty in Securing Help While Wages Are Falling Off.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12.—A slump of 20 per cent in the demand for labor was the main feature of the operations in Wisconsin's labor markets during November. Many employers who had had difficulty all summer in securing labor reported that they were all filled up, and the calls for help at the state free employment offices fell off about one-third as compared with October. Common laborers who had been receiving an average of 25 cents per hour for several months were offered 22½ and 20 cents, but they were reluctant to accept the reduction for many employers still paid 25 cents.

The slump was general throughout the state and marked the normal curtailment of operations due to the approaching winter. It was more marked in the case of male labor than female. The demand for women workers was kept up by the calls from factories and retail stores to meet the holiday rush. Employment for women in hotels and restaurants and at day work was dull.

For men street work and building operations were being rapidly finished up during November and the opportunities for work on farms were mostly at low wages. The metal trades were still calling for common laborers in foundries, but opportunities for more skilled men were scarce. Employment in the wood-working industries was steady but calls for additional help were few. The active demand for help came, mainly from lumber companies for woodsmen, from railroads for construction work, and from teamsters and contractors for general labor in the cities.

Despite the falling off in demand common laborers were still difficult to get. The total supply of labor registered at the four state employment offices was 3,124, of which 2,489 were men and 635 women. Help wants were registered for 2,736 men and 591 women, a total of 3,327. About 1,900 actually secured positions, through the offices, 1,554 men and 333 women, although over 3,300 were referred to employers.

One of His Worst.
The Doctor—Did you hear about that Methodist preacher's daughter down south who turned sleuth, hunted up the pickpocket who had robbed her of her purse, and finally landed him in the penitentiary? The Professor—Good for her! She was an M. E. sis, with a vengeance.—Chicago Tribune.

CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS."

MORE EFFECTIVE THAN CALOMEL, CASTOR OIL OR SALTS; GENTLY CLEANSSES THE STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS WITHOUT NAUSEA OR GRIPING. CHILDREN DEARLY LOVE IT.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something to-night."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.
It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night, and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without gripe, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it can not cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That and that only is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

THE IDEAL GIFT

Who wouldn't be delighted to get a Victor or Victrola for Christmas! It's a real pleasure to own such an instrument; to be able to enjoy the world's best music whenever you want to hear it. The Victor is truly the ideal gift for every one. And it is a lasting pleasure—an unequaled source of entertainment throughout the year.

At The Theatre

FINDS HEALTH ON THE STAGE.
Thomas W. Ross who is to appear in "The Only Son" in this city at the Myers Theater on Tuesday, December 17, is one of the most athletic of young men and proudly boasts he has never been sick a day in his life, and has never missed a performance during his twelve years of work on the stage. "The general idea," said Mr. Ross, the other evening in his dressing room, "that stage life is ruinous to the health of those who follow it finds a formidable contradiction in the case of perhaps a majority of American actors and actresses. Moderation in everything is the secret of good health. A cold bath that lasts an hour is harmful, one lasting a few minutes is invigorating. A bottle of wine makes one stupid, a glass or two stimulates. The general fault, with most people is exaggeration. Especially true is this in the matter of eating. It is a great mistake to eat three hearty meals a day. Too much importance cannot be attached to the ful finance and political bodies in "The Lion and the Mouse," so are the nefarious practices of the police discussed in "The Third Degree," even in a more vivid and interesting manner.

"The Third Degree" will be presented at Myers Theater, Saturday, December 14, matinee and evening.

"A ROYAL SLAVE."
Of the many plays produced during the past ten years, none has attracted more widespread attention or received warmer praise than Clarence Bennett's great romantic drama of Old Mexico, "A Royal Slave," which comes to the Myers theatre on Sunday, December 15, matinee and night. Its freshness and real genuine worth commend it to every admirer of all that is good and wholesome in play building. The fact that this sterling drama is still everywhere receiving high-water mark patronage is creditable alike to the author, Clarence Bennett, and to its manager, George H. Bubb necessity of a little regular, systematic exercise each day. I laid the foundation of my strong physique in college athletics and keep up, to this day, my fifteen minutes exercise and a cold bath before breakfast. Actors are the healthiest set of people I know, and I think it is largely due to their constant change of climate, food and environment, together with the fact that they lead so active a life. Variety of food, fresh air, plenty of water, a change of climate, with moderation in all things, these are the best rules for health, and these are the rules we of the stage are forced to follow.

"THE THIRD DEGREE."

The plot of "The Third Degree" is built around a youth, the son of a man who is a great social and financial power. The father, a prominent man in the smart set, discovers his son on discovering he has married a girl whose father has gained much unpleasant notoriety in police annals of New York. The girl, realizing her position, has made a gallant struggle to win the respect of the world through her fine character and natural ability. The young husband, rebuffed by his father, scorned and disowned on every hand by his friends, who assert that he has made a mistake and that his marriage is a mesalliance, resorts to drink and dissipation.

The story deals with a crime which, by reason of the quick, impulsive judgement of the police heads, results in fastening the guilt on an innocent man. Finding they must make good their first suspicion they bend every effort to the one end—that of fastening the chain of guilt on their victim. The method of the police department, together with the powerful influence of the press are vividly shown. For the first time on any stage, the audience is treated to a visual demonstration of the workings of the detective department of a large city. As clearly and distinctly as were the workings of the power to the excellent company presenting it and to the amusement loving public. "A Royal Slave" has entered upon its tenth year of astonishing success playing everywhere to capacity audiences. There is only one reason for such phenomenal patronage and that is that the play strikes a responsive chord in the hearts and minds of everybody, either of serious note or jolly, or of the sweeter tone of love—so that each auditor finds something to his or her peculiar taste or fancy. The scenic investiture this season is entirely new, and the costuming as usual is elegant. The cast is what it always has been, first class, and is headed again by those capable artists Walter Huffer and Irene Solomon.

LYMAN HOWE PICTURES.

Whaling has almost ceased to hold its place as one of our national industries. Though almost all of its men and ships have passed away, an illuminating description of this hazardous vocation has never been written. But fortunately it has been recorded by the best and truest of all possible methods of recording facts—the tiny negatives of animated pictures. These will be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Myers Theatre, Dec. 25 and 26; matinee Wednesday, Dec. 25, at three o'clock. The scenes are of absorbing interest throughout. They reveal the implements and tactics of whalers, the sighting, approach and harpooning of the whale, its frantic, convulsive struggles, its enormous size as seen alongside the vessel and finally the processes employed in dressing it for its products.

An infinite variety of scenes of Paris and its environments, including the historic palace of Versailles and a trip along the picturesque rivers of France, all presented in the myriad hues and tints of nature; the burial of the Maine; a thrilling race between a hydroplane and a fleet of the swiftest motor boats, including the 800 horse power Ursula;

the bee industry; and a ferocious lion making a frenzied leap at a horse which is saved from death only by the dead sure aim of a hunter at the crucial moment, are only a few of many other big features to be presented.

Tonight's Concert.

Mr. Connors played with a great deal of intelligence. He is not only a brilliant player but his keen interpretation of his well-known compositions showed musicianship. His technique is clean and smooth, and his tones clear as a bell. He was applauded warmly, and deserved all the appreciation that his audience extended to him. Mr. Connors will give a recital at Myers Theater, Thursday evening December 12.

John Francis Connors, the pianist, is one of the representative young artists of the state, and his recital at the Myers Theater Thursday evening, December 12, at 8:15 in this city, will be one of the musical events of the season. He has established himself in Chicago and is known there as one of the leading virtuosos and teachers. He was called to join the faculty of the Chicago Musical College as one of the instructors in the piano department and has made several concert tours with Bernhard Listemann, the Violinist and his daughter Virginia Listemann, the well known soprano. His recital here on December 12, will also be given with the two aforementioned artists as assistants and their joint appearance here should surely secure for them an audience of record-breaking capacity.

Mr. Connors, received his entire musical education in this country under the well known piano pedagogue M. Rosenfeld who has identified with the musical development of the Middle West for the last twenty-five years. Under his instruction Mr. Connors won the highest prizes in the piano department of the Chicago Musical College, and in June 1911, captured the Alexander Revell diamond medal in the post graduate class, which carried with this honor the title of the best pianist in that class and the public appearances at the Auditorium, at the annual commencement concert where he performed the Liszt E flat major concerto for piano and orchestra. His success was immediate and his subsequent appearances in Chicago won the hearty praise of the Metropolitan critics of the musical public.

CHARLES A. DANA ON A REAL SANTA CLAUS

Answered Letter of Little Girl Years Ago as to Mythical Personage Of Childhood.

There are always some "Doubting Thomases" who feel it their duty to explain away any myths of childhood. This is the time of the year when the little people look forward to Christmas morning and its surprises. Just now their letters to Santa Claus are pouring into the mail bag in the Gazette window by the dozens. On Tuesday the 17th, next Tuesday, they will start on their journey to the North Pole where Santa will read them all carefully.

The question has been asked in many a home "Is there a Santa Claus?" In answer to this the following clipping of a letter written years and years ago by Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun might be well quoted.

A little girl, Virginia O. Hanlon, once wrote to Charles A. Dana, who was at that time editor of the New York Sun: "Dear Editor:—I am eight years old. Some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth. Is there a Santa Claus?"

Then the mighty man of sarcasm and invective became even "a little child" and wrote the following charming letter:

"Virginia:—Your little friends are wrong. They are affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They will not believe except they see.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and kindness and goodness, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy, and generosity and devotion exist, and alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as though there were no Virginius. There would be no childish faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world, would be extinguished.

"You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but if they didn't see him, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men see. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in this world. You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest that ever lived could ever tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love and romance can push aside that veil and glimpse into that world. It is a beautiful glimpse and beauty beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all the world there is nothing so real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus? Thank God, he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia—may, ten times ten thousand years from now—he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

WISCONSIN DEALERS CHEAT THEMSELVES

Numerous Cases Reported Where Merchants Are Losers in Transactions Over Their Own Scales.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12.—That six perfect scales and weights work injury to many Wisconsin dealers in commodities no less than others do to consumers is the striking fact disclosed in recent reports of local dealers to Chief Inspector Fred P. Downing of the state bureau.

In Green Bay was found a dormant scale used for weighing freight which overweighed 60 pounds to a thousand, resulting in large losses in the course of years. An Ashland merchant used a scale for the past ten years without ever cleaning it. This condition caused him to give 18 1/2 ounces for a pound. Figuring on 200 sales a day and the average price of commodities sold at 16 cents a pound, and the average weight of each package two pounds, his loss for one year was $612. Another merchant lost $900 a year, but this same merchant was fortunate to be using another scale that was losing the public a similar sum.

Wausau's experience is also typical.

Scales at Wausau.

"The majority of the wagon scales which I have encountered," said J. H. Pomeroy, Wausau's city sealer, "have been like Sweet Alice of concert hall fame—they have had a 'taking weight.' The owners of these have been busy tearing them up and having them rebuilt."

This sealer also found a tomato and a corn can being used for measuring kerosene, the dealer having gone to the trouble to solder handles onto them. Another Wausau merchant used a gallon measure which was nearly one-half pint too large. It had been used fifteen years. To other merchants were using warehouse scales which weighed light, while their counter scales weighed at least a half ounce heavy. Ice cream cans purporting to be of four-gallon capacity were found to be two quarts short. Short spaced counter tacks in dry goods stores also came to notice.

The reports of the city sealers tend to show the great necessity of a systematic and periodical inspection of weights, scales and measures. While there are a few cases in which defective scales have brought about a loss of from 5 to 10 per cent on each weighing, by far the greater number shows a small variation of from one-half to 1 per cent. This variation on one individual load does not result in any loss to the purchaser, but when repeated many times daily, month after month, the losses often aggregate thousands of dollars.

Other Discrepancies.

H. J. Danfield, city sealer of Rhinelander, reported the testing and correcting of a wagon scale weighing 20 pounds heavy on each 100 pounds. Over this scale the firm bought in the fall and winter of 1911 over 900 tons of potatoes. During that season they paid for and did not receive 36,000 pounds, or 600 bushels. At an average price of 55 cents per bushel, the total loss to the firm was $320.

Walter Helms, city sealer of Janesville, reported a wagon scale weighing 50 to 75 pounds heavy on one end, the examination disclosing a waterpipe "pressing" on one end of the levers. This being removed, the scale worked perfectly.

R. W. Barrett, city sealer of Merrill, said most commodities are now being sold by weight. F. R. Hughes, the Chippewa Falls sealer, said he has saved more wood to buyers than any other article, the saving in every case being from 15 to 25 cubic feet.

Merchant Loses Money.
A. J. Kull, city sealer of Ashland, found a merchant who lost a penny on every sale he made on one scale because he had never been properly instructed how to use the computing poise. This man's loss was about $195 a year for the last ten years. Use of the city scales as a criterion for wagon scales caused a variance for wagon scales a loss to the public of $300 on hay and $104 on coal in one year. Added to the loss from two wagon scales, the total loss to the public on account of these inaccurate wagon scales amounts to about $1,476.60.

Edward Gnatzig, city sealer of Watertown, declared the saving to the people of Watertown in the matter of measures alone will run into the thousands of dollars.

J. M. Kellier, city sealer of Green Bay, estimated the public's loss on butter on account of the inclusion of the wooden dish in the pound to be $11,020 in a year, the loss being one cent a pound. Potatoes were found to measure 53 instead of 60 pounds to the bushel, with a resulting loss of $7,350 annually to the consuming public.

Reports of similar tenor were made by F. A. Philbrick and W. M.

Van Lone, city sealers of Baraboo and Beloit, respectively.

Two Weak Spots.

"Well," said the old man, after the college commencement, "I've made a lawyer out of John, a electric science feller out of Bill, a professor out of Thomas, while James is a preacher an' Dick's a politician; but I'm thinkin' it'll take about all that John, Bill, Dick an' myself kin make to keep the professor an' the preacher above high water."—Atlanta Constitution.

"A girl with several applicants for her hand is apt to worry because the demand for her is so much greater than the supply."

Foley Kidney Pills bring back health and strength by healing the disease. They are the best medicine made for kidney and bladder troubles. They act quickly and thoroughly. You can buy nothing better. ## FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, December 12, 1872.—Salaries of the County Clerk and Treasurer: The reduction of twelve hundred dollars made by the board of supervisors in the salaries of the county clerk and county treasurer, at its last January meeting does not seem to be binding those gentlemen if the literal construction of the law be taken. Section 1, of Chapter 75 of the laws of 1867 says that county boards must fix county officers' salaries "at the annual meeting in November for the ensuing year." As the action referred to was taken at the January meeting, Messrs. Carey and Carpenter are entitled to the same pay received by them prior to the reduction.

BY WALT MASON

The woman of an elder day made mince meat in the good old way, the way her grandma taught her; the formula was handed down from Plymouth Rock of Boston Town, or came across the water. The divers parts she would prepare with tender and artistic care—it was a solemn function; oh, mamma! how our innards ached until the noble MINCE PIES were baked. We ate it then with unction. Then mince pies were a work of art; but now the soulful boarders' heart by modern schemes is fractured; the housewife to the grocer hies to get material for pies, and buys it manufactured. For fifteen cents she buys a chunk of something oblong, dark and punk, that looks like leather findings; perhaps it has both fruit and meat, perhaps it's really fit to eat, perhaps it's tanner's grindings. She moistens down this wad of dust and bakes it in a fancy crust, and asks her folks to eat it, and often when they come to smell this festive pie they give a yell, reach for their hats and beat it. Oh, for the good old fashioned pie our mothers made in days gone by—to something it amounted. The mince meat purchased at the store has cast a pall of sorrow over more homes than can be counted!

"The girl stood on the burning deck, When all had fled from fianco. For the beautiful child held a fire grenade And the rest all feared her aim."
"Imogene," he said slowly "it's real cute of you to say you'll marry me in spite of the fact that I am but a millionaire's only son, yet there are things you ought to know."
"Divulge your pawst if you will, Bertram," she replied as she powdered her reticence nose in a cute little way she had; "but nothing can come between us. Nothing, no matter how small!"
"Nevertheless, I shall tell all," he persisted. "Did not the president of the Wampum National Bank try to make me a teller once? Then listen: when I was a mere child I hit my grandfather over the head with an Indian club and then absolutely refused to attend the funeral."

"A mere trifle!" she pook pooked.
"Once, in a fit of desperation," he continued, doggedly, "I murdered an organ grinder for his monkey."
"A merer trifle!" she pook boohed.
"I have repeatedly forged my father's name to checks for amounts varying from 10 cents to seven million and four dollars," he pursued relentlessly.
"The merest trifle!" she pook pooked. "Boys will be boys."
"Er—snore slightly," he said. "Snatching off his ring, she flung it at his feet. It missed them narrowly."
"Ring off!" she said haughtily. "I see, indeed, that we are not in the same class."

PREDICTS WARM WAVE FOLLOWED BY STORM

Most Severe Storm Period of Month Forecasted Dec. 18, to 22—January Will Be Warmer.

(Copyrighted 1912, by W. T. Foster.) Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent Dec. 13 to 17 and 18 to 22, warm waves 14 to 18 and 19 to 23, cool waves 15 to 19 and 20 to 24.

First of these disturbances will bring unusually warm weather and following the second will come a great fall in temperatures, a cold wave. But this cold wave is not expected to be severe. Some precipitation with these disturbances but less than usual.

We use the words disturbance, storm center, low and storm as synonymous and none of them necessarily means precipitation or danger. Readers of these bulletins should not apply meanings that are not expressed. The warm wave is always in advance, its highest temperatures usually southeast of the low or storm center.

Expect Severe Storm. The storm forces will be greater than usual accompanying the disturbance to cross continent Dec. 18 to 22 and you should expect a winter storm of more than usual severity.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Dec. 23, cross Pacific slope by close of 23, great central valleys 24 and 25, eastern sections 27. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Dec. 25, great central valleys 24, eastern sections 26. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Dec. 25, great central valleys 27, eastern sections 29.

On Pacific slope this disturbance will be above average intensity but after it crosses Rockies it will be only a moderate winter storm of no great importance, with moderate temperatures and not much precipitation. That disturbance is expected in the great central valleys on Christmas Day and to pass through eastern sections during the holidays. Indications are favorable to good holiday weather on all the continent except a little rough on Pacific slope.

January Will Be Warmer. Indications are that January will be warmer than usual in the great central valleys and from about a little below normal in eastern sections and on Pacific slope. Less than usual rain and snow is expected in the great central valleys of the states and in Cuba and from about normal precipitation to a little below in all other sections. Indications favor a general drought in January in the states between meridian 90 and the Rockies.

Should this drought occur as indicated it will seriously injure winter wheat. Dry, warm weather, accompanied by winds sometimes kills winter wheat during January and February. The eastern states and all of Canada are promised nearer the normal cropweather for January.

During the year 1912 we have made many valuable experiments and greatly improved our forecast system. We had hoped to get these improvements into our January forecasts but could not reach it. All the improvements will go into the February forecasts and every succeeding month. The rain line will go into our February charts and all months thereafter.

Cropweather Forecast. We are preparing to place our cropweather forecasts for 1913 before the world's greatest scientists and we propose to convince them against their wills that the causes of our weather changes are known and that we now have the best system of forecasting ever devised.

Our race will be indebted to the Santa Clara, Cal., meteorological observatory and particularly to Prof. J. S. Ricard, its director, for advancing the cause of long range weather forecasting. Government scientists are afraid to even suggest a cause of weather changes and their jealousies of independent investigators lead them to ridicule whoever ventures to suggest a cause.

End of a Noted Folly. The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists. The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor. One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

Yes, How? The state of Minnesota objects strenuously to such a serious offense as hugging a girl if the girl objects. But how in the world is a body going to find out whether or not the girl really objects?—Youngstown Telegram.

Lifelike. "What a noisy thing that bass drum is!" remarked the clarinet, disgustedly. "Yes," replied the trombone, "just like a human being, isn't it?" "Like a human being?" "Yes, it's the one with the big head that makes the most noise."—Scraps.

Where Appetite Is Keen. A day's rations for one man on a sledge journey across the Polar sea consists of four ounces of condensed milk, one-half ounce condensed tea, one pound pemmican, three ounces (liquid petroleum oil), three ounces (liquid) pure alcohol, one pound ship's biscuit.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they "hang on." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and for grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. Mrs. N. C. Young, Peggah, Ga., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cleared my throat and cured my cold." Badger Drug Co.

WRINKLED OLD INDIAN WHO REMEMBERS ADAM AND EVE VISITS THE WINDY CITY

Wah-Hah-Gun-Ta.

Wah-Hah-Gun-Ta, which translated into English means Wiley Wimpuss, chief from the 131-year-old Blackfoot Indian from Glacier reservation, is in Chicago to see the United States land show. Chief Fire-maker is the oldest human being in the world, having been born in the region known as Glacier National Park in 1781, according to well authenticated tradition.

The aged Indian is a chieftain of his tribe, and in his younger days was a great hunter. He has killed 3,000 buffalo.

Sample of Chinese Humor.

A barber, while shaving a customer's head, drew blood, and put one of his fingers on the place. Again he made a cut, and put down another finger, and so on until he had no more fingers free. "Ah," said he, as he paused in his work, "a barber's trade is difficult; we ought to have a thousand fingers!"

Scientific Fact Established.

A number of rabbits upon whom coffee was tried to determine the effect of the caffeine it contained died, proving beyond a doubt that coffee never was intended as food for rabbits.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Recent excavations at Pompeii have uncovered the remains of a man with both hands resting on his stomach. This would seem to indicate that the early cucumber was not unknown to the ancients.—Sunday Magazine.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS—"CASCARETS"

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which scours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

UNCLE SAM ACCORDS HIGH HONOR TO 5 YOUNG ARMY OFFICERS; GIVES THEM MEDALS FOR EXCEPTIONAL BRAVERY UNDER FIRE.

Washington.—There was an impressive ceremony in the White House the other day, when President Taft in the presence of a distinguished company of army men presented gold medals to five young officers of Uncle Sam's regular army.

Gold medals of the sort that the president gave these young men are very rare—in fact, only thirty-five men now in active service have ever received them. The medals were given for exceptional bravery under fire. The fifth earned his medal by helping protect the town of Douglas, Ariz., from the Mexican rebels on the international boundary.
